

LIST OF BODIES IN THE EU MEMBER STATES OFFERING TRAINING ON INTRA-EU INVESTMENT PROTECTION

The provided list is a result of research conducted by the staff of the Academy of European Law ERA.¹

In addition to its own research presented below, in an email from 3 April 2023, the Academy kindly asked partner national judicial schools for assistance in providing information on any national training courses available in the field of intra-EU cross-border investment protection in their territories. It was clarified that information about any training courses and events in this field organised by professional training institutions for judges, prosecutors, or private lawyers, offered by universities and/or any other local training opportunities accessible (or partly accessible) to judges and court staff would be relevant. Unfortunately, the Academy did not obtain any such information on existent relevant national training courses. Replies of some judicial schools were limited to statements that there are no relevant trainings or any educational events in this field in their respective countries.

The list of the bodies and trainings on intra-EU investment protection in the EU Member States is divided into the first overview of reoccurring trainings and events and the second overview of events and trainings that were offered only once. This list only includes Member States in which training on the subject matter could be identified. As courses, trainings and events offered on intra-EU investment protection specifically are not numerous, a third overview is provided containing courses, trainings and events which are available on related topics and might perhaps be interested in use and dissemination of an e-learning package on intra-EU investment protection. It is worth noting that most of the listed trainings, courses and events is provided in the academic context and that no training in the field of intra-EU investment protection targeted to judges and court staff in EU Member States could be identified.

¹ The research has been conducted primarily in English, but also in German, Italian, Spanish, French, Croatian and Slovenian for EU Member States where research in these further languages is relevant.
